Convicted

HANFORD, Cal., July 20. Mrs. Jennie Laura Brown, "Uncle John" Tipton and Fred Mills, convicted of murdering Lee Camp, wealthy Kings county rancher and foster son of Mrs. Brown, were sentenced to spend from ten years to life in San Quentin prison, this afternoon, by Superior Judge Kyrl Van Zante.

Sentence was passed following denial by the court of a motion of a new trial. The defense applied for a writ of probable cause on which to base an appeal. Until this motion is acted upon the three convicted murderers will be kept in Kings county jail.

When the sentence was read Mrs. Brown burst into tears and rested her head upon the shoulder of Robert McCamish, her nephew, who was the fourth defendant and the only one acquitted in the murder trial. Mrs. Brown was carried from the courtroom.

Camp's body was found December 14, last, at the foot of a windmill tower on the Brown ranch, where he lived. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Under the law of the State Mrs. Brown cannot inherit any of Camp's property and Mrs. Pearl Camp King, his sister, has instituted proceedings to gain control of the estate.

Forty Of The Alleged Victims of "Great" Oil Merger Ready To Testify

According to an announcement coming from District Attorney Earl Warren's office in Oakland yesterday, nearly 40 supposed victims of the Golett oil "merger" were in readiness to appear before the grand jury and testify during the investigation.

The first of these witnesses to come forward was Mrs. Jennie L. Pine, 65, of 2022 East Twenty-second street, Oakland, and who is slowly becoming blind. Mrs. Pine said that $1500 of her savings went into the merger, upon the promise of enormous profit which would enable her to obtain a cure for her blindness, and also to take care of her son who is in a Seattle hospital, a disabled war veteran.

When Mrs. Pine learned of the arrest of the involved persons, she called upon Mrs. Peggy Reeves, wife of one of the accused men, and asked her if it was true that the merger was a fraud. Shortly afterwards, Mrs. Reeves and George Burnside arrived at her home, gave her back her $1500 and begged her to remain silent about the affair.

Six other witnesses, all now charged with grand larceny in connection with the case, were subpoenaed before the grand jury yesterday morning. They were Mrs. Reeves, C. E. (Continued on Page 8)

Autos Collide On Chanslor Ave.

An automobile driven by Mrs. T. G. Stockird, 329 Chanslor avenue, came into collision with an auto piloted by Earl Hampton, 149 Ninth street, in the vicinity of Third and Chanslor avenue yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Stockird's machine received a broken steering gear, and a few minor dents, but no other damage was done.

At the time of the accident, Mrs. Stockird was turning her car around in the street, near the Santa Fe railroad tracks on Chanslor avenue. Hampton did not see her in time to avoid the crash.

Congratulations from hosts of friends are being heaped upon Rev. and Mrs. M. H. Greenlee, upon the arrival of a beautiful eight pound baby daughter at the Alta-Bates hospital in Berkeley yesterday afternoon. The new member of the Community Methodist church, of which Rev. Darrow, Noted Lawyer For Scopes Defense, And Bryan In Dayton Court Room As Evolution Trial Opens

The larger photograph shows a scene in the Dayton, Tenn., courtroom at the opening of the trial of Prof. John T. Scopes, on a charge of teaching the theory of evolution in the schools in violation of a state law. Clarence Darrow is in the center foreground, chin on hand, listening intently to the charge to the jury. William J. Bryan, foe of evolution is seen in the insert. Apparently he is pleased over the matter he is reading.

BUNCO STEERER ROBS MEXICAN OF HIS MONEY

Jose Martinez, a Mexican, residing at 324 Third street became the victim of the age old bunger game yesterday afternoon. At 2:20 p. m. two Mexicans appeared at his home and told him that they were prepared to distribute a large sum of money to a number of unfortunate Mexican families residing in that section of the city. yv

Martinez was informed that the "generous" men were forced to depart for Los Angeles last evening, so the money would be left in his charge for distribution. They produced a large roll wrapped in a newspaper saying that it was the money. They asked for an evidence of his good faith, so Martinez turned over $45 in cash and his watch and chain, valued at about $20.

The "money" was left with him in a satchel. When Mrs. Martinez returned and was informed of the procedure it was decided to have a look at the small fortune left in their hands. When the satchel was opened, only a large roll of old papers was found.

About five months ago an identical trick was pulled in Richmond, only at that time, the victim parted with $175. The similarity of the two cases, leads the police to believe that the bunco men in both instances were the same.

Request For Aid In Paving Denied By Supervisors

City Manager J. A. McVittie and Ed Hoffman, city engineer, appeared before the Board of Supervisors yesterday and asked that funds be appropriated for paving on San Pablo avenue to conform to the widening of the state highway. The proposed stretch is inside the Richmond city limits and will cost approximately $160,000, of which the county was asked to pay part. The request was denied.

Eight American Legion Posts of Contra Costa county are planning to hold a county picnic in Ramona park Sunday, August 30. The county council will meet in Danville, October 15, to arrange for a celebration of Armistice Day, November 11. All the posts in the county will assemble at one place for a joint observance.

Fire Hydrant Is Wanted At 37th and Ohio

At its meeting last night the city council received a petition from property owners asking that a fire hydrant be installed at Thirty-seventh and Ohio streets. The petition stated that the hydrant should be installed immediately, as the streets in that district are now being paved.

City Manager McVittie stated that the fire committee had not thought a hydrant necessary at that corner, as there was one but a few blocks away. The petition was referred to fire committee until next Monday night.

MOUNTED COP IN MIRA VISTA IS DENIED BY CITY

The city's yearly budget now being prepared will not carry an appropriation for a mounted policeman for the Mira Vista district. This much was definitely decided last night when the city council denied a petition signed by fifty tax payers of that community asking for a mounted policeman to patrol the residential district at night.

Both City Manager J. A. McVittie and Chief of Police Dan Cox, to whom the matter was referred for one week declared that a mounted policeman seemed unnecessary. Upon their recommendation the council denied the petition.

ELECTROLIERS FOR TENTH ST. ARE ASKED FOR

Four Or Five Pole Systems Are Submitted To The City Council

IMPROVEMENTS ARE PLANNED

Petition of Richmond Syndicate Referred to City Manager For One Week

A petition asking that the city install an electrolier lighting system on Tenth street between Macdonald and Nevine avenues was last night received by the city council from the Richmond Syndicate.

Two plans submitted to the council call for either a four pole or five pole system, the cost of each pole to the city amounting to $50 a year. It was outlined in the petition that the syndicate is planning to put in new sidewalks on the west side of the street immediately, and that work on new paving of the street would start under private contract as soon as all of the property owners on that section of the street are signed up.

The matter was referred to the city manager for investigation for one week.

Wife Beater Is In County Jail For Second Time

Joe Marcado, 25, Valona resident and employee of the Selby Smelting Works, failed to learn the lesson that a 30 days jail sentence was expected to impose and lost a foot-race Sunday with result that he is back in jail again facing another lengthy jail term. And, the worst part of it all, as far as Marcado is concerned, is that he was just released from jail Sunday morning, after completing a term for battery on his wife.

Marcado went directly to his home after release from jail and celebrated his freedom, his wife declares, by abusing her. Fearing for her safety she ran for the home of Constable J. J. Fox. She managed to keep ahead of her husband until she reached the officer's residence. Fox, laid up with a broken ankle, was sitting on the front porch of his home and witnessed the thrilling finish of the race. The authority that the star of the crippled offender exemplified halted Marcado's rush on his wife and held him secure until Deputy Sheriff Steve Neilson of Martinez went to Crockett in response to a telephone summons and took Marcado into custody.

Marcado was convicted of battery on June 21 and sentenced to thirty days after Mrs. Marcado had testified to ill treatment and Marcado's stepson had bared a brutal beating.

By EARL L. SHAUB.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent
DAYTON, Tenn., July 20.—In true primitive fashion, the great Tennessee "Monkey Trial" was held under the trees of a grove on the courthouse lawn today.

This was the most dramatic session of the whole trial, as spectacular developments played leap frog over one another in sensational rapid succession.

The biggest sensation of the day came at the end when the judge adjourned court to foil a riot among the spectators during a row between Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan, who was on the witness stand.

The first break of the day came when Darrow was arrested for contempt of court.

The second came when he apologized.

The third when the judge accepted the apology and in the name of the (Continued on Page 8)

COUNTING OUR BLESSINGS

A philosopher has said: "Man can make a garden out of a desert and a desert out of a garden."

This means that the struggle to make a garden out of a desert brings out of men the best there is in them. With the result achieved, the serpent of discontent enters the garden, and what has been attained by so much labor and sacrifice may be lost by a lack of appreciation of what has already been accomplished.

It is well that we should give thought to the wrongs and abuses of the social and governmental order, but it is also essential that we should give thought to the advantages and opportunities of our social and governmental heritage.

Perfection in society and government is not to be expected so long as the men and women who go to make up a national or social order fall short of perfection. If we will take a good look within ourselves we may be able to discover reasons why we have not yet arrived at the New Jerusalem.

When we survey history and look about the world as it is today, we Americans will find many reasons to be thankful that we live in the age and in the land in which we have been born. Things are not perfect, of course, but they are so much better for the average man here and now than they have ever been at any time elsewhere, that we ought to count our blessings, thank God and take courage.

FRIENDSHIP WITH CHINA

The American people will agree with Senator Borah when he says that there is no reason why the United States should be drawn into any trouble with China. The friendship between the two nations is traditional. America wants China's world rights respected, wants her territory respected, and hopes that the time will soon come when China can exercise complete sovereignty, under an enlightened government, free from European and bolshevist domination.

Senator Borah's expression was in the form of a cabled reply to an inquiry by Americans living in China. The message follows:

"I see no reason why the United States should be drawn into any controversy or conflict with Chinese authorities or the Chinese people. Doubtless the situation, as you say, is serious, but not serious by reason of any acts or policies of the United States, and it is not to be presumed that we will be drawn into controversies of other powers."

The United States has not evinced any imperialistic designs in China, and I venture to believe that the American people as a whole would like to see the national rights and interests of China fully respected. Personally I would favor the withdrawal of extraterritorial rights in China as speedily as practicable and a policy adopted by all which would respect the territorial integrity and national rights of a great people.

There Are High Collars A-plenty In the Newest Clothes From Paris. THERE is a deep V neck line that you may have seen on some of the newest frocks. It had its origin to be sure, in Paris, and sometimes over here it is called the Paris V. The important thing about it is that the top of the V begins quite close to the neck, while the tip of the V extends well down on the bodice, so that the width of the opening is at no time at all wide. If you must wear an open neck line this autumn then this is the one you should choose if you want to follow the latest fashion, for the wide-spreading bateau neckline is gradually passing into the limbo, though of course there will be some conservative souls who will cling to it for some time to come, just as there were conservative folk who resisted it when it first came into fashion.

If you are young and comely you will be able to wear the little low stand-up collar that has some how wedged its way into the present mode in spite of the fact that it flatters so few women. It was taken first of all from the funny little low collar found on the coats worn by men and women in China. Along with Mah Jongg and jade green it was one of the fashions that we borrowed from far Cathay. It does everything that we once thought a collar shouldn't do. It gives a hard round line and accentuates what has been called the "line of decapitation."

Equally trying is the low round collar used by Premet recently, just like the Chinese collar only that it closes in the back instead of the front, suggesting a priest's collar.

Far less trying are some of the really high collars that are to be seen on the new frock. Sometimes these collars are made by the windings of a soft, pliable scarf about the neck. There is an unmistakable effect of the influence of the Directoire period in many of the newest high collars. One of the high collars to be seen on a fur coat designed for next winter's wearing is said to be an exact reproduction of the collar worn by Napoleon at St. Helena!

GIVE A GARDEN PARTY

A SUCCESSFUL way of paying off social obligations in a garden party. Even a small country place is large enough to accommodate a good many guests. So that you can pay off a lot of obligations at once with much less trouble than would be the case if your party were held indoors. Of course your house must be in order so that such guests as wish to may wander indoors, but no indoor preparations for entertaining them need be prepared, unless the day turn out rainy. Even in our usually delightful summer climates this is an unpleasant possibility. But when we remember that the garden party is the favorite English summer diversion we ought to take heart, because the English climate is notably uncertain.

Some sort of music is quite in order at a garden party. Interpretive dancing is also a form of intertainment that is usual. But if you have interesting grounds and garden, if your guests are congenial, and if your tea table is appropriately spread you need not furnish any sort of entertainment.

There should be plenty of places to sit down. The more abhors and summer houses you have the better. Have as many chairs as possible in the garden. Big cushions covered with colored linen or cretonne are quite as satisfactory as chairs. At a garden party the other day interesting seats were provided by sections of a large felled tree, two or three feet long, rolled up against the tree trunks. These are comfortable enough for outdoor seats and can be made more so with cushions.

Refreshments for the garden party may consist of tea, punch, sandwiches, cakes, and bonbons. Of course you may have something more elaborate if you wish but these simpler refreshments are really much more suitable. Ice cream or an ice of some sort is not out of place, and in some neighborhoods your party would probably be considered incomplete without some frozen refreshments.

WHERE IT STARTED

CHAINS

The actual origin of chains is too old to be definitely known, but the earliest civilizations used them. It is probable that they originated in Egypt. It is a curious fact that chains were at once a badge of servitude and a mark of honor; captives were led in chains and conquerors were decorated with chains about their necks.

Records of the railroads here and abroad show that America still leads all other countries in the matter of service and speed of its passenger trains.

Solving The Vacationists' Food Problems

Food experts tell us when we buy canned foods we buy the best the market has to offer. They are canned while they are at their best, under the most scientific conditions. These foods can always be depended upon for freshness, wholesomeness, delicious taste and protection from contamination and climatic conditions.

When stocking up for the summer vacation it will pay you to look over your grocer's supply of "ready dishes." They are so called because instead of being a single kind of meat or fish, fruit or vegetable in one can, they are dishes composed of several ingredients. Pork and beans, soup, spaghetti, fruit and vegetable salads are examples. Tomatoes, corn and peas, you will be sure to need in somewhat larger quantity than other things. Other invaluable foods are salmon, agnus and spinach, string or lima beans and sweet potatoes. Of the meats, chicken, a la king, plain chicken, corned beef, tongue, dried beef and deviled ham, are suggestions. Salmon, fish flakes, tuna fish and sardines will be useful for fish salads on warm days. Beans and artichokes should be added to the vegetable stock. And don't forget cheese, practically every variety of which comes canned, with the exception of Swiss.

The vacationist can avoid all monotony of food by beginning to think about the food problem early and by checking up on the variety and quantity of each variety. The grocer is always ready to advise.

69 Gallons Per Capita Per Year Gas Consumption

Gasoline consumption is far more extensive in the United States than anywhere else in the world. A Commerce Department survey showed per capita consumption in this country to have reached 69.3 gallons a year, while England was second with an average of only 11.6 gallons. One year's consumption in China would not keep the automobiles of the United States running eight hours.

To supply the demand, American production of gasoline was increased from 1,500,000,000 gallons in 1914 to 9,000,000,000 gallons in 1924. The United States accounted for 79 per cent of the world's total consumption last year, while exporting $160,000,000 worth of the commodity.

The Commerce Department also announced that in June the United States produced 300,557 passenger automobiles and 26,696 automobile trucks, compared with 214,322 and 28,117 respectively, in June last year.

For the first six months of 1925 the United States has turned out 1,856,491 passenger cars, against 1,744,534 in the same period last year, and 226,959 trucks against 192,322.

U. S. WOMEN SCOLDED FOR CORSETS ON BEACHES; INDECENT, SAYS PARIS

(By Universal Service)

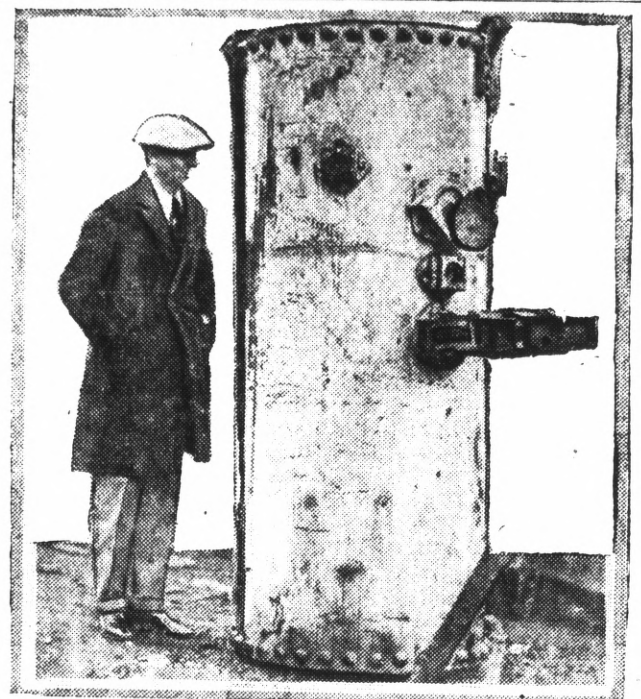

PARIS, July 20.—American women who wear corsets on French bathing beaches are scolded by the Intransigent, afternoon paper, which says that the fashion is "ridiculous and indecent."

Intransigent says that several American girls at Deauville have appeared on the beach wearing "a sort of bathing suit which is in reality only a corset." The form of the dress, says the paper, is the same as that of a corset, leaving the back almost bare.

"A rapid survey of the bathing beaches convinces us that the most modest costume for women is the one-piece jersey," continues the journal. "The custom of wearing stockings into the water, also followed by some Americans, is to be deplored."

Dangerous Age Is Between 22 and 24

The dangerous age, as disclosed by prison statistics, lies between the years 21 and 24. Within this age-group arrests, convictions, and commitments reach their maximum. From 70 to more than 90 per cent of the prisoners in State institutions are first timers.

Because of these facts the view is general that reform, rather than punishment or the protection of society, should be the first consideration in prison management. But the department of manufacture of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States which is making a study of the question, finds two distinct lines of thought.

One, concerned largely with the commercial angle of the problem, holds that the prisoner is debtor to the State and should pay in labor to the State, and that prisons be made self-supporting by such labor. The other holds that prisons should has been applied and the strings removed your range of colors will be white, yellow, red or orange, blue and purple.

If you start out with the intention of uncovering during the process you should tie the strings in sections so that you can remove a part at a time.

With tie-dyeing designs need not be limited to spots on a solid colored background. Shaded tie-dyes give charming effects and only require a little additional patience in the execution.

After "ties" have been placed in the cloth as desired, the background may be shaded. This is done as follows: Hold the cloth by the middle in one hand and allow the ends to fall very gradually and steadily into the dye-bath, which must be kept in motion by the other hand constantly, preferably with a long handled enameled ware spoon. Lower the cloth into the dye by degrees, perhaps taking a half hour for the operation. By the time the center of the cloth reaches the dye, the dye-bath will have become largely exhausted, and this factor is of assistance in the gradation of the color. Rinse thoroughly before hanging up to dry.

Now, after the final bath of blue

Tied around objects create extremely interesting effects. Various shaped objects can be used, preferably non-porous, such as beads, marbles, stones, dice and sticks of wood. Waxed thread for tying is best for this.

Father Is Held Responsible For Illegitimate

A man in California responsible for the existence of an illegitimate child is also responsible for its proper support, and, if he fails to meet that obligation, he can be sent to jail.

This was decided by the State District Court of Appeals, in consequence of which the higher tribunal affirmed the conviction of Louis Hamill, laundry wagon driver, for failure to provide for his alleged illegitimate child by an unmarried waitress.

Hamill, a married man with a wife and three children at home, it was alleged, for a time provided $7 a week for his child. Then he discontinued his contributions. He was indicted for failure to provide and in Superior Court he was fined $500 and sentenced to two years in the county jail.

Federation

"To form a more perfect union" was the animating thought of the statesmen who met to draft America's constitution. Their problem was to weld the sections they represented into a political entity that would function most efficiently and enduringly in the service of the people.

A similar problem was presented nearly a century later to the organizers of America's telephone service. Licenses under the first patents were being granted to isolated companies that were forming to introduce local service. "A more perfect union" of these companies seemed, from the beginning of the telephone's adoption by the people, to be essential, and so the structure of the Bell System was planned.

This organization exists today substantially as it was then conceived—a group of companies, each preserving its individuality and applying local knowledge to local needs, but all federated into a single cohesive union in order that nation-wide, universal service may be provided.

Beautiful Things Made By Simple Home Dyeing

By Evelyn Travis Clifton

FOR good results as well as the fastest colors, choose colors of the same character, so that they will successfully cover one another.

When dyeing one color over another the second color will always be affected by the tone of the first. Red dyed over yellow will be a yellow-red, or orange, unless you use a red that is so intense that the underlying yellow is overpowered. Brown may be dyed over this, which will result in a reddish brown. Should you dye blue over red, the result will be purple.

Care should be taken so that loose dye of one color is not carried into another dye-pot when dipping. Rinse the dipped part after each color is used so that the dye-baths are kept a clear color.

As mentioned in the first article, the utensils used for dyeing are a very important factor. When a number of colors are to be used, they are especially important, because the chemical action of the dyes is uncertain enough in itself, and tin, iron or any pot with a metallic surface often changes the color of the dye and would add further complications. For this reason enameled ware will be found best. Although enameled ware has a metal base, its porcelain-like surface is impervious so the dye cannot come in contact with the metal and the mixture can be depended upon to remain unchanged throughout the process.

For the purpose of explaining the process of dyeing with more than one color we will choose the warm or red group. As the lightest color in the scheme is yellow, use yellow material or dye it yellow. Now fold the cloth and wind off the "ties," but wind them only partly, as you will have to wind additional parts after each dyeing. After this is done boil the whole piece carefully in the next lightest color, which is, in this case, orange. If the yellow previously used was quite intense, the orange may be dyed with a light bath of red, but if a very deep orange is wanted for the design, orange dye may be used. The cloth does not have to dry before the next winding is done.

Now with the string wind off that part of the "ties" which you want to remain orange, and after this is finished place the whole piece in the red dye-bath. Now cover with the string those parts that you desire to have red, and then boil the material in the brown dye, stirring constantly with a long handled enameled ware spoon. After a thorough rinsing and wringing hang the material up for awhile to set the color still better, and then the strings may be removed.

You will find that the design consists of effective red, yellow and orange rings on a background of brown. The colors when applied in this way over one another are always harmoniously blended.

It is important to remember always to dye first the palest colors which you intend using, progressing toward the darker colors, with the last dye the deepest. A few more tones of color may be obtained during the same process by removing some of the old strings as well as putting on additional ones before each successive dyeing. For example: If you have started with white cloth and have covered some of the white with the strings, dyed the cloth yellow and tied further, and your next step is

BANKERS AND RAILROADS

Crowd Fills The California To See "Lost World"

Bessie Love in "The Lost World"

The public loves to be scared. Judging by the enthusiasm of the crowds thronging to see "The Lost World," the first National-Watterson R. Rothacker super-thriller.

It has justified in the public mind the expense to which the producers have gone to concoct a film drama of unequalled originality. No small boy quailing for the first time between the disquieting squeals of the circus elephant on one side of him and the angry roar of the lion on the other is gripped by a sharper thrill than those grown-ups who have watched Bessie Love, Lloyd Hughes, Lewis Stone and Wallace Beery battle with dinosaurs—prehistoric monsters of 10,000,000 years' antiquity—on the lost plateau of a South American jungle.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous for his Sherlock Holmes stories, combined the scientific accuracy and ingenuity of those tales with a fantastic imagination and sureness of dramatic values in creating his novel "The Lost World." These attributes have been well preserved in their translation to the screen under Earl Hudson, supervisor of First National pictures.

A strong love interest is woven about the uncanny thrills with which the picture abounds, the development of which is admirably handled by the quartet of artists who head the cast. Into this frame-work are fitted the fantastic creations of prehistoric times which men of science insist are actual truth.

Arthur Edson's photography of the beautiful South American jungle scenes is splendid. The fights between 100-foot monsters, the forest fire in which 30 dinosaurs are driven before the flames and the encounters of the human actors with these appalling beasts hold the spectators in a thrall. The spell is not broken for a single second until the thrilling scene in which a captive dinosaur breaks loose in the streets of London trampling people and buildings under its mountainous bulk, to disappear finally in the waters of the Thames.

Earth's Birthday Is Placed At 1,200,000,000 Years Ago

By KAIRI H. con WFEAGND
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 20.—The greatest secret of all time has been solved.

Mother Earth's real age is no longer a riddle. Radium that wonder of modern science has been the means of settling the mystery definitely.

German scientists now accept the view that this only planet is even much more ancient than any one would have thought.

They say just 1,200,000,000 years have gone into the making of the earth as it stands today! Through research work with radio-active matter the riddle which has puzzled the imagination of mankind since prehistoric time has been answered with these figures—a sum of years almost past human comprehension.

Radium is transformed with a deadly and steady precision into helium and lead the rapidly with which this transformation takes place has been scientifically measured down to the dot. So far there seems to be no way to stop this certain deterioration. The force simply expends itself with precise and mathematical fatality.

With this perfectly exact stop-watch at hand the investigator had the means of measuring just how many millions of centuries have rolled away since the beginning of time when the earth was in the making.

Countless quantities of radio-active minerals are to be found on the surface of the earth as we as underground. Mineral springs and the atmosphere contain their share of radio-activity. So there is no dearth of material with which to work.

Hertofore all measuring rods at the command of science have given the eternal riddle in comparatively small figures. Geologists had paid practical attention to this problem, calculating the eons of time by the layers of rocks and the number of years required to deposit these strata. But their guess was much too low.

Now comes the research workers in the realm of radio-activity with their startling announcement that makes all calculations that ran into the mere thousands of years seem tame.

Primitive peoples in the sagas and folk yore usually imagined the world to have been created in a day—and that that day not more than a few hundred years in the past.

Back Bad Today

Then Find the Cause and Correct It As Other Richmond Folks Have.

There's little rest or peace for the backache sufferer.

Days are tired and weary—Night brings no respite.

Urinary troubles, headaches, dizziness and nervousness, all tend to prevent rest or sleep.

Why continue to be so miserable?

Why not use a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys?

Use Doan's Pills.

Your neighbors recommend Doan's. Read this Richmond case.

Mrs. L. Marshall, 619 Twentieth St., says: "I keep Doan's Pills on hand all the time. I wouldn't use anything else for kidney complaint. I had attacks of backache and at times my kidneys acted irregularly. Doan's have always relieved me so I cannot say too much for them."

Mrs. Marshall is only one of many Richmond people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S PILLS, the same that Mrs. Marshall had—the remedy backed by home testimony, 60 cents at all dealers.

Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs. Buffalo, N. Y. "Then Your Back is Lame—Remember the Name."

Produced by arrangement with Watterson R. Rothacker, with Bessie Love, Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery and Lloyd Hughes.

Reardon-Wiring Act Takes Big At California

The patrons of the California theatre on Sunday night were entertained by a new act prepared for Central California by Mrs. Dan Reardon, wife of the manager of the theatre, and Robert Wirig, boy singer of this city. Maintaining a running chatter of wit, Mrs. Reardon demonstrated a series of physical exercises, recommended for the housewife. Robert Wirig, posing as her attendant, received long applause for his song numbers.

Admirers showered numerous bouquets of beautiful flowers upon Mrs. Reardon, and she expressed appreciation for the kindness.

We never could see LOGIC in this

Some owners of pneumatic equipped trucks and delivery cars say—

"Why buy quality tires . . . the drivers abuse the tires anyway . . . cheap tires are good enough . . ."

Seems to us that here's where the finest and most durable equipment would be the most economical . . . and lately we've had an opportunity to prove it. We converted several fleet owners from this old notion to Diamond Heavy Service Cords . . . and they're certainly glad we did.

The tire isn't made that can stand the gaff like this Diamond Cord! In sizes . . . 30 x 3 1/4 to 40 x 8.

DROP IN SUGAR IS PLEASING TO THE HOUSEWIVES

In the midst of the fruit preserving season, when the frugal housewife is up to her elbows in the July kettle, sugar prices went crashing yesterday. The price dropped from $5.90 per hundred pounds to $6.65 at the refineries.

This 25c fall at the refinery will have its effect on the price of sugar at the corner grocery, it was stated. Frank B. Connolly, secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association of San Francisco hailed the drop as particularly opportune, since fruit jars and cans are now cheap. California fruit and berries are plentiful, and San Francisco the market center of the West.

Yesterday's drop brings sugar back to the days of the Exposition 10 years ago. In October, 1915, it sold for $5.65. In the pre-war period, 1913-1914, it had been selling for $4.05 to $5.10. With America's entry into the war it climbed from $5.50 to $8.40, and along in 1917 and 1918, under the Food Administration, it advanced to $7.35 and finally to $9, at which figure it remained for nearly a year until December 31, 1919, when Government control ceased.

Sky-high prices prevailed the next year. Beginning in January, 1920, at $15, it skyrocketed to the unheard of price of $26.30 per hundred in 1920. By the end of the year it was back to $8. It was low in 1921 at $5.30, ranged between that figure and $6.65 in 1922, ran up again to $6.90 and $10.15 in 1923, and fluctuated between $8.90 and $5.90 last year.

The decrease yesterday to $6.65 is due to unusual production, say the refiners. The Cuban crop alone is 5,100,100 tons this year, a million more than last season and largest since 1921. Java, the Hawaiian Islands, and the Philippines, are all making unprecedented shipments.

May Condemn Right Of Way To Reach New Wharf

A communication from the Ellis Landing and Dock company, fixing its price at $15,000 for the land that the city requires for the rights of way for a rail line to the new wharf on the inner harbor at the foot of Tenth street was last night read to the city council, which referred the matter to the city attorney for consideration for one week.

In an effort to secure the right of way to the new wharf, the city officials have been negotiating with the dock company for some time. It is felt by members of the city council that the price set by the company is far too high. City Attorney Hall pointing out that the tideland where the city requires the third acre to the wharf has been assessed at but $750 an acre. Until the city gains the rights of way the new wharf cannot be built.

City Attorney Hall has served notice to the dock company that the city will institute proceedings for the opening of the street to the new wharf in the event that the company holds to its price set in the communication.

Court Adjourns To Prevent Riot In Scopes Trial

people of the "Great State of Tennessee" forbore Darrow as he had been taught to forbore through the "example set by Jesus Christ."

The most thrilling development of all was the testimony of Bryan from the witness stand and his cross-examination by Darrow. This was a series of fiery, caustic, acrimonious thrusts and culminated in this final outburst from Bryan, who turned to the people with outstretched arms as he shouted:

"He is slurring and slurring and slurring the Bible. I have no objection to answering his question, but I want the world to know that this agonistic is slurring, slurring, slurring, slurring, slurring the Christian religion and the Bible."

Darrow retorted like a flash: "There isn't an intelligent Christian on earth who believes in your fool ideas."

Two thousand people arose in their feet in a wave of tense anger and religious excitement.

The judge raised his gavel high above his head and brought it down on the table with a terrific crash, and shouted:

"Court is adjourned."

Witness Tells Of Big Profits Promised Her

Spaulding of Richmond, E. C. Coombs, E. C. Sherman, W. R. Moody and George Burnside. The three other defendants, Edward F. Reeves, C. E. Peacock and F. P. Davis, were not called.

Captain R. McSorley, acting chief of police of Oakland, announced, while the grand jury was sifting the case, that Walter Moody and W. B. Sherman of Sacramento, had decided to plead guilty to the charges of violating the state "Blue Sky" laws and ask for probation. In consideration of dismissal of grand larceny charge, McSorley said, that C. E. Spaulding, G. E. Coombs and George Burnside, might also plead guilty to "Blue Sky" law violations.

The evidence and the witnesses were presented to the grand jury by Warren and Deputy District Attorney Carlisle Crosby. According to Mrs. Pine, she was approached by several of the defendants, who said they were members of her deceased husband's fraternal order. Enormous profits that would make her wealthy were promised, she said.

Warren stated that indictments against some or all of the defendants are expected within a short time.

Police Inspector Wellmann declared that "Jim" Gough, alleged bunco man who defendants say was the master mind of the merger is not in Mexico as was first believed, but is somewhere in the northwest. Gough has been traced from Los Angeles, where he is supposed to have fled from the bay district after the arrest of his associates, to a city in Utah, and then farther on in the direction of Seattle, Wallman said. At the request of the Oakland police, authorities are now searching for him in that section of the country.

About $85,000 of the half million believed to have been invested in the merger, is believed to be in Gough's possession at the present time.

Tax Returns Must Be Made By July 31

Declaring that a misunderstanding exists among those liable for capital stock taxes, Collector of Internal Revenue John P. McLaughlin issued a warning yesterday that these returns must be made by July 31.

Last year a sixty-day extension was made on account of the uncertainty of proposed action by congress, when it was planned to abolish the tax.

This year, says McLaughlin, there is no uncertainty and there are but two weeks left for complying with the law.
